

CLAIMS

What is claimed is:

1. A mobile phone with multimedia display comprising:

5 a CPU installed inside the body of the folding mobile phone to control the internal circuits;

memory connected to said CPU and used to store data;

a timer connected to said CPU and used to count and input the clock timing data to said CPU for said CPU to get timing data;

a communication interface connected to said CPU and transmitting input signals;

10 a mobile phone keypad connected to said communication interface and being entered command signals by users;

a mobile phone connecting port connected to said communication interface and linked to the computer, PDA or digital camera to get the image data and transmit the image data to said CPU;

15 a display interface connected to said CPU and transmitting image data; and a big screen display connected to said display interface and installed external to the body of the folding mobile phone to let said CPU 2 display images through said display interface to said big screen display.

2. The mobile phone with multimedia display recited in claim 1, wherein said mobile 20 phone connecting port linking to a radio receiver, said radio receiver receiving signals wirelessly from a radio transmitter connecting to the computer, PDA or digital camera.

3. The mobile phone with multimedia display recited in claim 1, wherein said mobile phone keypad and said big screen display being combined as a touch screen display.

4. The mobile phone with multimedia display recited in claim 1, wherein said folding mobile phone being a non-folding mobile phone.